

Who We Are

Green Cleaning for Life, LLC is Denver's unique worker owned green cleaning cooperative that is run and owned by workers in the underserved community. We are committed to offering professional and competitive cleaning services, but we also offer something else to those who choose us.

We offer a healthy vision and a business model you can believe in.

1. Worker Owned and Managed.

Green Cleaning for life is owned by the workers themselves, entrepreneurs who have come together with a cooperative business vision to expand quality job opportunities to low-income members of their community.

2. Environmentally Healthy.

Green Cleaning uses environmentally sound principles and practices.

In collaboration with a nationally recognized green cleaning cooperative in California (WAGES), Colorado's Green Cleaning for Life worker-owners aim to provide highest quality cleaning services, while building a higher quality life for their families.

Q&A

1. What is green cleaning and why should I care about it?

Green cleaning is a system of cleaning using environmentally safe cleaning products. These products are much more than just a few chemicals that have been labeled as "green": Our products not only protect the environment overall but also promote healthy and safe living and working surroundings for your family.

2. Why choose non-toxic cleaning products?

- a. Protect children & pets from accidental poisoning.
- b. Protect yourself (or) primary cleaner of the house from contact with toxic ingredients.
- c. Protect your home's indoor air quality.
- d. Protect the global community.

3. Will green cleaning solutions and techniques really improve the air quality of my home?

Poor indoor air quality can cause a variety of family illnesses and cause people to miss work and school. Indoor air quality consistently ranks among the top five environmental risks to public health. By using green cleaning, you can improve the air quality you live in.

4. How do I know the products are safe?

We make our own natural cleaning products that we adopted from another green cleaning cooperative in Boston. All products have been approved by Tuft University Lab and found to meet or exceed laboratory testing methodologies and Green Seal 37 Standards.
