Centro Humanitario Para Los Trabajadores

We’re Moving!

Brief Background
Centro Humanitario para los Trabajadores (El Centro) is entering its next phase of continued growth and development of our 18-year history serving immigrant, contingent and low wage workers. Located at 2260 California Street in Denver, El Centro is the Rocky Mountain Region’s only worker center that promotes the rights and well-being of day laborers and domestic workers in Colorado through membership, connection to employment, job skills and leadership trainings, wage theft prevention and resource referral, collaborations, and advocacy.

Why are We Moving?
As Denver continues to grow, it has become apparent that our current center in downtown Denver no longer provides a convenient location for those we serve, and therefore limits our ability to deliver the quality of services and resources needed to successfully meet the needs of day laborers and domestic workers. Therefore, the Board has decided to move El Centro’s operations from its current location to sites that can offer more expanded outreach services, better accessibility and real-time support for both workers and their employers.

Finding Our New Home
During this past year El Centro conducted a search and identified a tenant that will continue to meet some of the needs of individuals experiencing homelessness in Denver. The next step is to work with community partners within the Denver area to help El Centro find its new home.

Continuity of Services
The Board and staff have developed a Transition Plan that will guide us through the relocation process. El Centro is committed to minimize interruption of programs and when significant changes occur, we will inform all those who are affected by such changes. Until further notice, the organization will continue to operate its core programs, including the “hire a worker” program, in the current location in partnership with the new tenant.

Stay Informed About our Move
El Centro will keep it constituents and supporters informed on a regular basis through our website at http://www.centrohumanitario.org, E-newsletters and our Facebook site at https://www.facebook.com/CentroHumanitario.org.
